About Organizers

The Tanzania Film Festival is the biggest film event in Tanzania organized in collaboration between The Tanzania Film Board (TFB) and Studio 19 Limited.

The Tanzania Film Board (TFB)

The Tanzania Film Board (TFB), is a government regulatory body under the Ministry of Information, Communication, and Information Technology. It is responsible for overseeing, regulating, and promoting the film industry in Tanzania. The Board classifies and approves films, ensuring they align with the country's cultural, moral, and legal standards. Additionally, it supports the growth of local talent and the industry by fostering the production of films that showcase Tanzanian culture and values, while also facilitating international collaborations to enhance the global reach of Tanzania's film industry.

Studio 19 Limited

Studio 19 Limited is a full-service, creative agency founded in 2015 in Tanzania. From our beginnings to date, our efforts have always been fueled by three main passions: To tell good stories, to get them to the right people, and to transform people's lives. We believe in the transformative power of stories and we seek to enlighten, entertain and inspire. Our stories challenge assumptions, raise awareness, re-orient people's perspectives and focus energies towards transformation.

Culture and Development East Africa (CDEA)

The Mashariki Creative Economy Expo is organised by CDEA, a creative think tank based in Dar es Salaam. Incorporated in 2011, CDEA provides cultural and Pan-African thought leadership for creative, social and scientific innovators. It supports artists, cultural leaders and entrepreneurs across East Africa, promoting cultural values as a driver of development and uses incubation, research, advocacy and capacity-building programmes to stimulate creativity and encourage sustainable production and lifestyle

Film Pitch Session

Docubox Day

Docubox – The East African Documentary Film Fund

is a regional institution dedicated to supporting independent filmmakers and strengthening the documentary film ecosystem. Its participation at TAFFA highlighted the role of documentary film in shaping narratives and amplifying diverse voices in East Africa.

The program featured two sessions:

1. Documentary Masterclass facilitated by filmmaker Cece Mlay, followed by a case study presented by Kelvin Kagambo. Both of whom are beneficiaries of the Docubox Fund. The sessions provided participants with practical knowledge on the art and craft of documentary filmmaking as well as insights drawn from local practice

2. Shorts, Shorts & Shots (SSS), Docubox's signature event. The audience came dressed in shorts, to view and discuss short films from Africa, while sipping shots (both alcoholic & non alcoholic). The program featured short film screenings accompanied by Q&A sessions, alongside music performances, social interactions, and networking opportunities, creating a platform for engagement between filmmakers, stakeholders, and audiences.

A man in a dark blue shirt and dark trousers stands on a stage, facing an audience. He is holding a microphone and gesturing with his right hand. The audience, consisting of men and women of various ages, is seated at long wooden tables. Some are looking at the speaker, while others are looking at their phones. The room has large windows with vertical blinds. The floor is covered with a patterned carpet. The overall atmosphere is professional and engaged.

Strategic Impact & Way Forward

Strategic Impact

The joint platform created by TAFFA and the Mashariki Expo demonstrated that Tanzania's creative industries are not just about entertainment—they are engines of economic growth, social cohesion, and cultural diplomacy.

Cross-Sector Synergies

The collaboration linked film, technology, fashion, design, and media, enabling creatives to explore new markets and collaborations. This synergy established Tanzania as a regional meeting point for diverse industries.

Business and Investment Opportunities

Through B2B engagements, networking sessions, and industry dialogues, the Festival opened doors for producers, distributors, investors, and entrepreneurs. Discussions on co-productions, distribution platforms, and financing models laid the foundation for more sustainable creative enterprises.

Cultural Diplomacy & Regional Leadership

Hosting participants from across Africa and beyond, the Festival amplified Tanzania's profile as a leader in storytelling and creative innovation, reinforcing cultural ties and positioning Dar es Salaam as a gateway for regional collaboration.

Youth and Talent Empowerment

Young filmmakers, emerging artists, and creative entrepreneurs found mentorship, exposure, and practical opportunities. By spotlighting new voices, the Festival nurtured a pipeline of talent ready to contribute to the nation's creative economy.

Looking Ahead

The Tanzania Film Festival & Awards is not just an annual celebration, it's a platform to unlock long-term growth for Tanzania's creative economy. Moving forward, we are committed to building a stronger ecosystem for filmmakers through strategic partnerships.

1. Training & Capacity Building

- Collaborate with universities, film schools, and cultural institutions (locally and internationally).
- Launch year-round training labs and masterclasses in directing, screenwriting, producing, and emerging fields like animation and AI in film.
- Empower 200+ young filmmakers annually with practical skills to compete on regional and global stages.

2. Funding & Investment Access

- Work with development agencies, film funds, and financial institutions to create dedicated funding pipelines.
- Facilitate pitch forums and investor meet-ups that connect Tanzanian filmmakers with African and global financiers.
- Position sponsors as enablers of a sustainable creative economy that generates jobs and returns.

3. Distribution & Global Reach

- Partner with regional broadcasters, OTT platforms, and international distributors to showcase Tanzanian films to wider audiences.
- Expand screenings to diaspora communities and global cultural showcases.
- Brand partners gain exposure across multiple geographies, extending visibility far beyond Tanzania.
